Welcome Message

Dear distinguished colleagues, precious clinicians and research professionals,
It is our pleasure to invite and welcome you to participate in this prestigious event -
TBRI 2020 under the theme of research and clinical practice .

Our program attracts the attention of a large group of health professionals, biological, environmental scientists and others. It is planned to cover the most recent knowledge as well as the current research activities to bridge the gap between research and clinical practices.

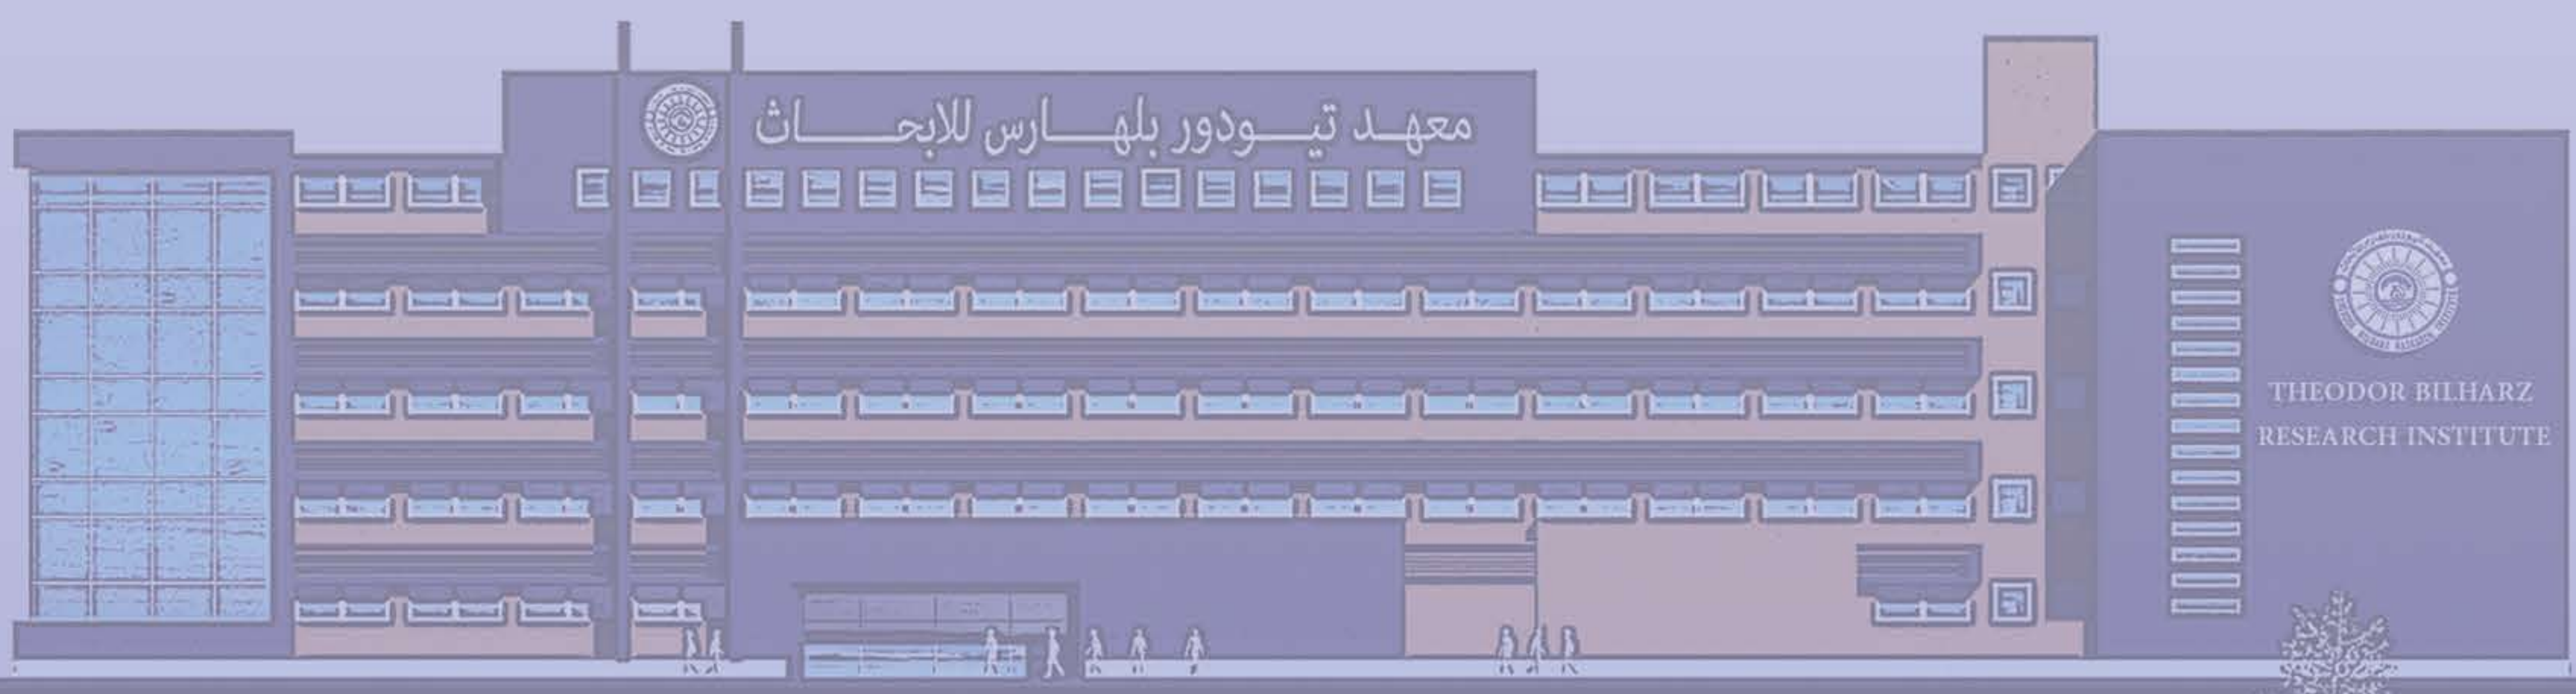

Your interaction with your fellow attendees during the conference will stimulate a creative exchange of ideas and knowledge for future collaborations.

Have a great time in our conference...
